Academic Advising Philosophy

My goal as your advisor is to help you meet your own personal, academic and professional goals during your time at UC Davis! I can serve a guide during your time at UC Davis and help you understand how the university works, connect you to campus resources and help you understand how to excel in your major. I will provide you the info, but I also want you to feel empowered to make the final call and take ownership of your education and overall college experience.

College can be challenging at times. Know that when challenges do present themselves, I am available and as your advisor I will advocate for you and have your back. Remember that you have what it takes to excel and accomplish your goals. You have unique strengths, skills and experiences that you can use to excel during your time as an Aggie. My role as your advisor is to remind you of such strengths and together make a plan on how we can use these in a college setting. I look forward to getting to know you and being your go-to person at UC Davis!
